INVITE CAROLINA TO STATE FAIR

Very Probable That An Interstate Exhibition Will Be Held.

PRIZES FOR EACH COUNTY

This Plan Followed in the Big Expositions Has Met With Favor.

Further steps were taken yesterday in the direction of shaping the movement for the great State Fair of Richmond to begin next fall, and it is expected that the Committee on Plan and Scope at its meeting to-night will be able, with the information now in hand, to reach some definite conclusions as to the nature and extent of the proposed exhibition.

Conferees have been held daily and frequently several times a day among those interested in the movement and the proposition is gradually taking form. It has been arranged to submit several plans to the committee for a working basis. The different ideas of the general public have been carefully investigated, and the committee will all be presented and from these the ultimate plan will be evolved. There is no fixed schedule, though it is possible, from the experience of the promoters of the fair, and the very nature of the proposition, that the people of the State, generally, will indicate the direction the movement will finally take. The committee will prepare a report in writing to be submitted at a public meeting to be held at once, the plan as prepared by it will be adopted, and the proposition of the State, together with an appeal for co-operation from all sides.

Character of Exhibition.

The suggestion that North Carolina be invited to unite with Richmond in making the exhibition a great inter-State affair has met with much favor and will, in all likelihood, be adopted. Mr. Lorraine said last night that he thought considerable attention is being given to the arrangement of the exhibition itself. It is proposed to have all the exhibits from any one county or city grouped in one place and to offer handsome prizes for the best county or city exhibit. This plan, which is a novel one, and not to be scattered broadcast over the country, without a thought as to ultimate destination, does it not appear most logical that every care and attention should be taken in our own self interest, to place them on a plane of inapproachable superiority?

Damage Suit Entered.

House That Fell and Carried Neighbor With It.

An interesting suit was yesterday instituted in the Law and Equity Court by the executor of the estate of Dr. C. W. Thomas, who died last night, claiming that he has been damaged to that amount by the collapse of a store-house, No. 154 East Main Street, which was owned by the defendants.

This store-house fell down on the 5th of June last and carried with it a part of the store-house, No. 156 East Main, owned by Governor, the two buildings being separated by a dividing wall.

The plaintiff claims that the defendants knew that their building was unsafe and did not exercise proper care to prevent the trouble that came in June last, and are therefore liable for the damage he sustained. The case will come on for trial in due course. Smith, Moncre & Gordon represent the plaintiff.

Real Estate Sales.

John T. Goddard & Co. yesterday sold at auction for the executor of the estate of Dr. C. W. Thomas the lot and the double brick dwelling at the southeast corner of Grace and Henry Streets, for $6,000.

The following auction sales are announced for to-day:

By C. L. & H. L. Denon, at 4 o'clock, the detached brick dwelling, 92 North Second Street.

By J. Thompson Brown & Co., at 4:30, the large lot and brick dwelling, No. 50 Clay Street, corner of Glimmer Street.

Bazaar at Masonic Temple

Many Attended Last Night—Successful Hunt in Chesterfield.

Personals.

Manchester Bureau, Times-Dispatch, (No. 1102 Hull Street.)

The bazaar in the Masonic Temple, under the auspices of West End Methodist Church, is gaining in popularity, and a large crowd was present last night. The booths are artistically decorated for the occasion, and the musical programme rendered last evening was hugely enjoyed by all those present.

There is a change of programme each night, and those who attend will spend a pleasant evening. The bazaar will continue through the week. The programme last night was as follows:

Net, Mr. Smith and Mrs. Adkins; solo, Miss Florence Moore; recitation, Master Louis Kracker; solo, Mrs. Allen Pettigrew; recitation, Master Louis Kracker; solo, Miss Ellington; selection, quartette, by Baltimore Street Choir.

Very Successful Hunt.

Messrs. James Nunnally and Thomas Williams returned last night from a very successful hunting trip to Falling Creek, Chesterfield county. They brought back sixteen birds and a few mammals. One of one afternoon's sport. Game is plentiful in the county, say the two gentlemen.

Mr. John F. Bond, a well known huntsman of the county, exercised his pack of fox hounds yesterday afternoon. The chase was a lively one for more than an hour. Mr. Bond has twenty-three fine hounds and many citizens from Manchester have ridden behind them in exciting chases.

Granted Leave of Absence.

The Fire Commissioners Tuesday night granted to Mr. Walter Smith, four months leave of absence with pay. Mr. Smith will leave on the 5th for Colorado with the hope of regaining his health. He has been in bad health for some months past, and his many friends in the city have volunteered contributions to his aid. The action on the part of the Fire Commissioners is generally commended by the citizens. Mr. Smith has made a most efficient and faithful employee of the city, and has a host of friends who hope that he will shortly be fully recovered.

Hinchee Appealed Case.

J. L. Hinchee, charged with stealing whiskey from J. L. Holloway, was sentenced to thirty days in jail yesterday morning by Mayor Maurice. The case continued for three hours in Police Court. Mr. H. M. Smith, Jr., represented Hinchee, and Commonwealth's Attorney Charles L. Page appeared for the prosecution. An appeal was taken.

Walter H. Harris, the man who raised a row with Officer Watts, was yesterday bailed by Squire Cheatham for his appearance next Friday morning.

Personals and Briefs.

The Rev. Arthur Davidson preached to a large congregation at Stockton Street Baptist Church last night. Revival services are being conducted in this church this week.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. George Bolton, of Thirteenth and Porter Streets, is quite ill.

Mr. William D. Johns died early yesterday morning in his home in Marx Addition. She is survived by her husband, three sons and one daughter.

Mrs. Bernice Baugh will give a box party in her home in Everett Street, to-morrow night.

Mr. C. E. (Buck) Smith is suffering from several cuts about the face and head, received last week by a fall down a steep embankment.

The Finance Committee will meet to-morrow night for the transaction of regular business.

Miss Edna Toney delightfully entertained a number of her friends with a Halloween party Tuesday night. The party was very tastefully decorated for the occasion, which proved a most enjoyable one for those present.

SPIDERS DELIGHTED.

Foot-Ball Team is Improved Wonderfully.

A feeling of joy and satisfaction pervaded the stadium about the face and head of the foot-ball team yesterday resulted in a score for Washington and Lee of 6 to 0, they regarded it as a victory, as had been shown by the fact that at the close of the game the boys raised the members of the team on their shoulders and bore them from the field as if they were victors instead of vanquished. The cause of their joy was the evidence that the team had from an unorganized, inexperienced mess become a quick and effective aggregation. Defeated a few weeks ago by Washington and Lee 34 to 0, they appeared yesterday as slightly inferior to the Lexingtonians, possibly not at all so when account is taken of the fact that the visitors were some 5 or 10 pounds heavier per man. Never had a team steeled out with so many drawbacks, yet never has a team improved so rapidly. The boys give the credit to their superb

Your Life Current.

The power that gives you life and motion is the nerve force, or nerve fluid, located in the nerve cells of the brain, and sent out through the nerves to the various organs.

If you are tired, nervous, irritable, cannot sleep; have headache, feel stuffy, dull and melancholy, or have neuralgia, rheumatism, backache, periodical pains, indigestion, dyspepsia, stomach trouble, or the kidneys and liver are inactive, your life-current is weak.

Power-producing fuel is needed; something to increase nerve energy—strengthen the nerves.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerve is the fuel you need. It feeds the nerves, produces nerve force, and restores vitality.

"When I began taking Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerve Pills I was confined to my bed. I had severe nervous spells, the result of a case with malaria. I was gradually grew so weak that I was unable to sit up. The spells would come with cold chills, and would become weak and almost helpless. My circulation was poor. I had doctored right along with Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerve. The Nerve seemed to strengthen me right away and my circulation was all right. I have taken in all, several bottles of the Nerve, and I am entirely well."

coach, Mr. O. A. Dunlop, who has accomplished wonders with them and showed himself an admirable athlete.

At the Wednesday conference of the board of the city, the police department, Dr. W. H. Whitsett, gave an account of his last summer's visit to Europe and his impressions of the Baptist Congress in London. His address was clear and the key-note of the gathering was religious liberty. He spoke of the close bond that existed in England between all the branches of dissenters. The result of the meeting, he thought, would be an enlargement of the ideas of the whole denomination, and a broadening of the sympathies of those whose zeal had led them to look too narrowly to one phase of their Christian work.

COMMITTEE MEETINGS.

Two That Were Held and One That Wasn't.

Two committees held meetings at the same time in the City Hall last night, each beginning its session at 8 o'clock, and a third tried to hold one but failed to muster a quorum.

The Committee on Light held a short session and approved all bills and pay rolls for the past half month. When the writer was being made out when the committee were heard from citizens in several sections of the city that street lamps were being neglected, not properly cleaned and not regularly lighted. The superintendent was instructed to set after the delinquent lanterns, and to shut up the lamps, so to speak, and see that they attend to their duties.

By resolution the committee recommended to the Council that the sum of $5,000 be appropriated for pay-roll account for the balance of the year. When the writer was being made out for this year the committee asked for $50,000 for this account, but the Council gave them only $5,000. They now find that the amount originally asked for will be inadequate.

A five members of the Health Committee met in an appearance, but six were necessary for a quorum to transact business. The faithful five waited patiently until 9 o'clock, and the sixth man not appearing, the meeting was called off.

and Chairman John A. Henson immediately called a meeting to be held at the City Hall, at 10 o'clock, to consider the matter of the approval of bills, and it is very necessary that this business be attended to. Hence the importance of the meeting sought to be held this morning.

WANDERING BOY.

Tell Him to Write to His Mother.

Youngster Will Be Forgiveness.

The Chief of Police yesterday received a letter from J. P. Dashiield, No. 329 Twelfth Street, Norfolk, in which the writer begged the Chief to help him to help him find his wandering boy.

He says the boy, a stout, well-grown youngster, 17 years of age, left his home in Norfolk three weeks ago, and has not since been heard from. It seems that there was no trouble, no known cause for his disappearance, and that the boy had no thought of foul play, but the boy just wanted to wander.

The father asks that if his son be found, the police or sheriff send him to him, or any kind of disposed person, they will just tell him if he wants to stay away from home, but tell him to please write to his mother.

The boy's name is Charlie Dashiield, and the father says he is well-built and large for his age (17 years).

BUILDING INSPECTOR.

Council to Wrestle With Question of Creating That Office.

Probably the most interesting question that will claim the attention of the Common Council at its meeting to be held next Monday night, will be the report from the Ordinance, Charter and Reform Committee, recommending the creation of the office of Building Inspector. It is known that several members of the Council do not favor the ordinance, as at present written, and possibly a bill will be introduced to amend the provision, which requires that the inspector shall be chosen from three names sent by the Mayor. With this clause stricken out, and the whole work of selecting the new officer left in the city legislatures' hand, and some minor amendments the ordinance will be likely to pass. In that event there will be a lively scramble for the good paying position.

Dr. Mitchell to Speak.

Dr. S. C. Mitchell, of Richmond College, leaves to-morrow for West Point, where he will speak at an educational mass meeting that night. It is the intention to organize there a school improvement league under the auspices of the Cooperation Educational Commission, of which Dr. Mitchell is president. Dr. R. H. Russell will also be present and make an address.

Women for Civic Improvement.

The women of the Civic Improvement League will meet at Mrs. Norman V. Randolph's, 611 East Franklin Street, this afternoon at 4 o'clock. A large attendance is requested.

SHOT BY CAMERA, NATURAL SWOONS

Immense Crowd Congests Station and Photographers

Get Busy.

HURRIED TO POLICE STATION

Examination is Postponed On Account of His Physical Condition.

(By Associated Press.)

BOSTON, November 1.—Morris Nathan, arrested at Pittsburgh in connection with the death of Susanna Geary, arrived here this afternoon in charge of officers. He was accompanied by his counsel and Martin Nathan, his brother, who had boarded the train at the Back Bay station in this city.

A crowd blocked the platform at the South Union station, awaiting the arrival of the train. Nathan, pale and weak, and apparently quite ill, came down the car steps following Chief Inspector Watts. Nathan's eye swept over the assembly and he caught sight of a camera. He quickly pulled off his derby hat and held it over his face just as a flash light was set off. Between Chief Watts and Superintendent Pierce, still concealing his face with his hat, he passed through the throng. At the gate Captain Dugan, of the police, was waiting and he escorted the party to a waiting carriage. The trip to police headquarters was made with the horses driven at a gallop, and Nathan was taken at once into the private office of Superintendent Pierce. There Nathan collapsed.

Dr. Nathan, the police physician, who was summoned to attend Nathan, informed the police officials that it would be imprudent to question the prisoner to-night, and acting upon this advice, the examination of Nathan was postponed until to-morrow. Nathan has been charged with abduction, and on this charge he will be brought into court to-morrow.

TRAGIC DEATH IN ELEVATOR SHAFT

The steward, who was near, walked to the shaft. Not until the upturned face and speechless lips met his vision, did he have any intimation that his son was dead. The shock was a terrible one, and one less brave than Captain Hulse would have collapsed. He stood the strain remarkably well.

Disregarding all police rules about hounding a body until the arrival of the coroner, the distracted father gave peremptory orders that his son should be removed at once. The remains were taken to Bennett's undertaking establishment and viewed by Coroner W. H. Taylor. An inquest was deemed unnecessary.

The deceased was a young man who was known to hundreds in Richmond, and was liked by every one. He was idolized by Captain Hulse and returned the fatherly affection. The news of his tragic death spread rapidly, and scores of friends expressed their sympathy for the bereaved family. Many called at the home of Captain Hulse yesterday afternoon and last night and volunteered their services.

Young Mr. Hulse left home yesterday morning with a sum of money to pay bills for his father. He went to the Jefferson Hotel, where he settled an account, and had gone to the storage room to speak to Mr. W. H. Lee, the steward, who has been a life-long friend of the family. Mr. Hulse asked Mr. Lee the direction of the stairs leading to the baggage room, from where the elevator could be taken to the first floor. This was shown a pair of stairs leading to the basement, and two minutes prior to the accident, which caused the young man his life.

Elevator Probably Struck Him.

The large doors to the elevator from the baggage room were perhaps open and the elevator being at the top it was wark below. It is possible that the young man stepped into the pit, thinking that the doors led into another room. Just many are of the opinion that the car struck him as it was descending, knocking him into the pit, and perhaps fracturing the base of the skull.

Young Mr. Hulse was slightly deaf, having suffered from a spell of diphtheria when young. He had not been engaged in any active business for about four years, his health not being very good. One brother, Herbert, in the office of the delinquent tax collector, and a sister, Mrs. John E. Seaton, survive him besides his parents.

The remains were taken to his father's home, No. 407 Hanover Street, late yesterday afternoon. Arrangements for the funeral have not as yet been completed, but the funeral will take place from the family home.

THE VALUE OF CHARCOAL.

Few People Know How Useful It Is in Preserving Health and Beauty.

Nearly everybody knows that charcoal is the safest and most efficient disinfectant and purifier in use, but few realize the value when taken into the human system for the same cleansing purpose.

Charcoal is a remedy for all the ailments of the body. It is not a drug at all, but simply absorbs the gases and impurities always present in the stomach and intestines and carries them out of the system.

Charcoal sweetens the breath after smoking, drinking and after eating onions and other odorous vegetables. Charcoal effectively clears and improves the complexion, it whitens the teeth and acts as a natural and eminently safe cathartic.

It absorbs the injurious gases which collect in the stomach and bowels; it disinfects the mouth and throat from the poison of catarrh. HAS QUITE A PLOT.

Several Schemes Worked Out in Professor Napoleon.

With the blowing of the whistles this morning, carpenters, decorators, electricians and stage managers will commence work at the Academy of Music in preparation for the big musical extravaganza, "Professor Napoleon," which will be given its first presentation to-morrow night, under the auspices of the Bluez.

As there is no other attraction at the Academy to-night, the heavy rolls of scenery will be hung in place and the elaborate electrical effects will be adjusted by the electricians.

The final full-dress rehearsal of all the 700 people will commence at 3 o'clock, and not until late to-night will the last choruses be sung. Everything is being rapidly put in readiness for this last rehearsal, and after it is concluded, will be pronounced perfect and ready to go for the initial audience Friday night. The augmented orchestra will have an extra rehearsal Friday afternoon, and as the production contains over forty musical numbers, the musicians' work will not be light.

The plot of "Professor Napoleon" is well worked out. Richard Fiske, the student of Saccharum College, of which Professor Napoleon is principal, Richard has been writing a book and thereby neglecting his studies. The professor, who is a student of the college, Richard's father, to visit the college and inform him of his son's supposed negligence. In the meantime, the professor, who has been practicing for the regatta, meet with a mishap; their boat having capsized. The sailors of the Iowa, which happened to be anchored in the bay, came to the rescue, and as a result are also invited by Napoleon to visit the college. Senator Fiske arrives, and in order to introduce his father to the college, Richard introduces his father to Prof. Philz, whose hobby is chemistry. He imagines that by mixing certain chemicals, he can produce a new kind of dynamite, and tries to interest the students and visitors at the college with his theory. Of course they "diddle him." Senator Fiske, the renowned instructor, takes up the idea and agrees to join old Philz in his efforts.

Professor Napoleon has been pestered so much by the theories of Philz, that he dreams the theories come true, and it is this dream that has caused the side of the corpse lay a pistol of small calibre, which had three chambers empty. So far no arrests have been made, but in all probability when the investigation is completed, some startling developments will be made. The community around and south of Pleasant Hill is greatly stirred up over the ghastly find, and every clue leading to the actual fact, in the case will be probed to the bottom.

NARROWING THE CIRCLE.

Police Following Every Clue in Poisoning Case.

"Just keep your eyes open and something may turn up in a few days," said one of the members of the police department yesterday, when asked concerning the probability of any one connected with the mysterious poisoning of the two children of Mrs. Emma Blakey-Perkins. The detectives are following every clue, narrowing the scope of the investigation. There are few homes within a radius of four blocks of the Perkins home that have not been visited by the sleuths in search of evidence.

No additional light was thrown on the case yesterday when Mr. J. W. Johnson, father of Mrs. Perkins, was given a hearing in the Police Court on the charge of threatening the life of Mrs. Perkins. Johnson's neighbor, who had been accused of the poisoning by Mrs. Perkins, Mr. Johnson was acquitted of the charge. Mr. Johnson testified that he had run from her home because she was afraid Mr. Johnson would kill her. Mr. Johnson said that he had not made any threats against Mrs. McDowell further than the general one that if he knew who killed his grandchildren he would kill them.

Academy Defeats Nolly's.

Sharp, snappy game was played Tuesday afternoon at the Broad Street Park between the teams of the Richmond Academy and Nolly's School. The Academy won by a score of 12 to 9. Feature plays were made by Williams, Brown and Alfred Smith for the Academy, and by Knowles for Nolly's School.
